

ABSTRACT

Diffusing layer based on mineral particles, intended to make a light source homogeneous, characterized in that it incorporates an electromagnetic insulating device whose resistance per square is greater than 100 Ω .